my strength

That's enough, you idiot.

Chapter 78: retrospective

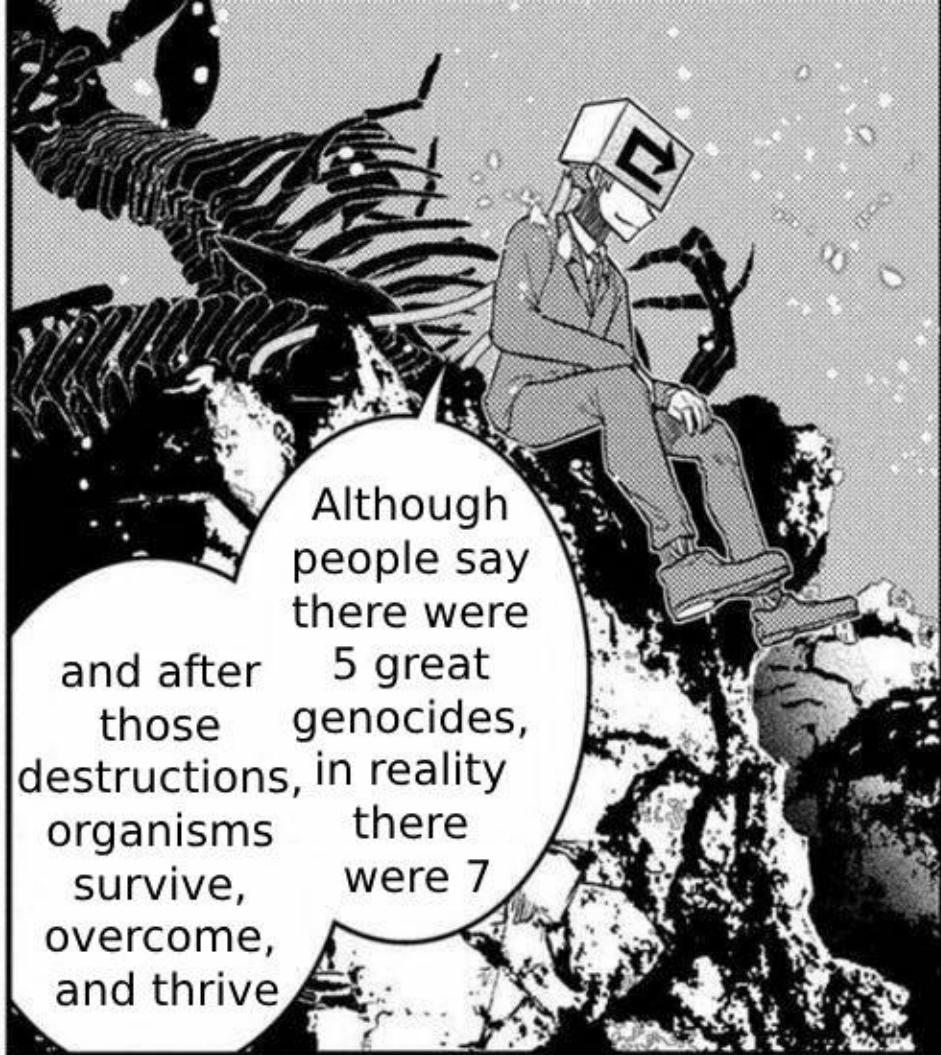

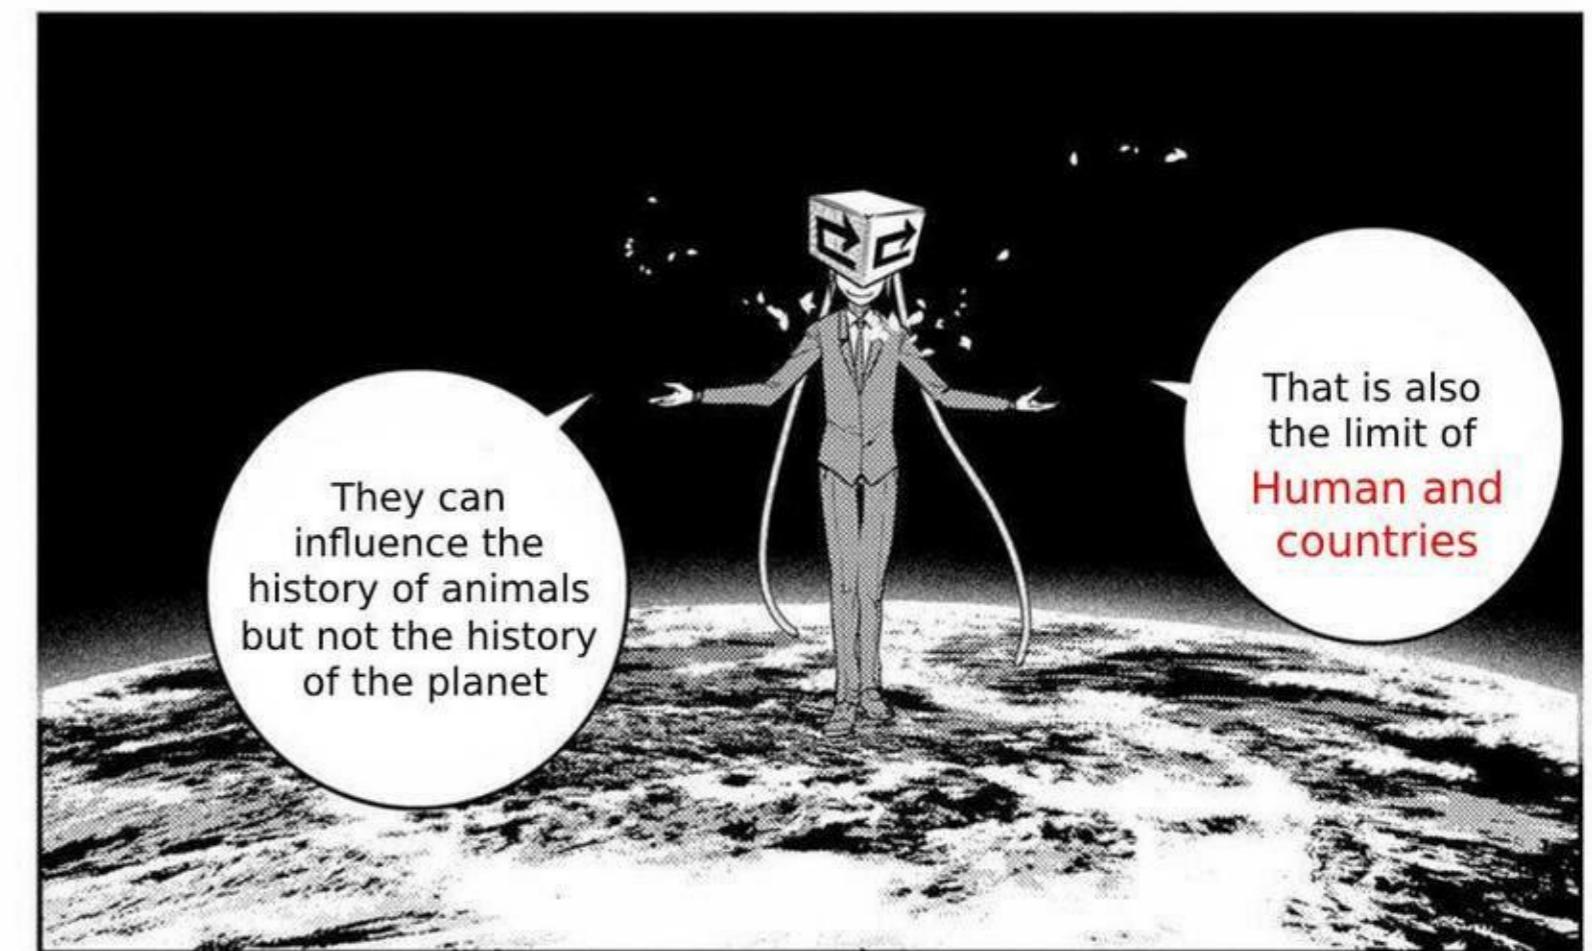

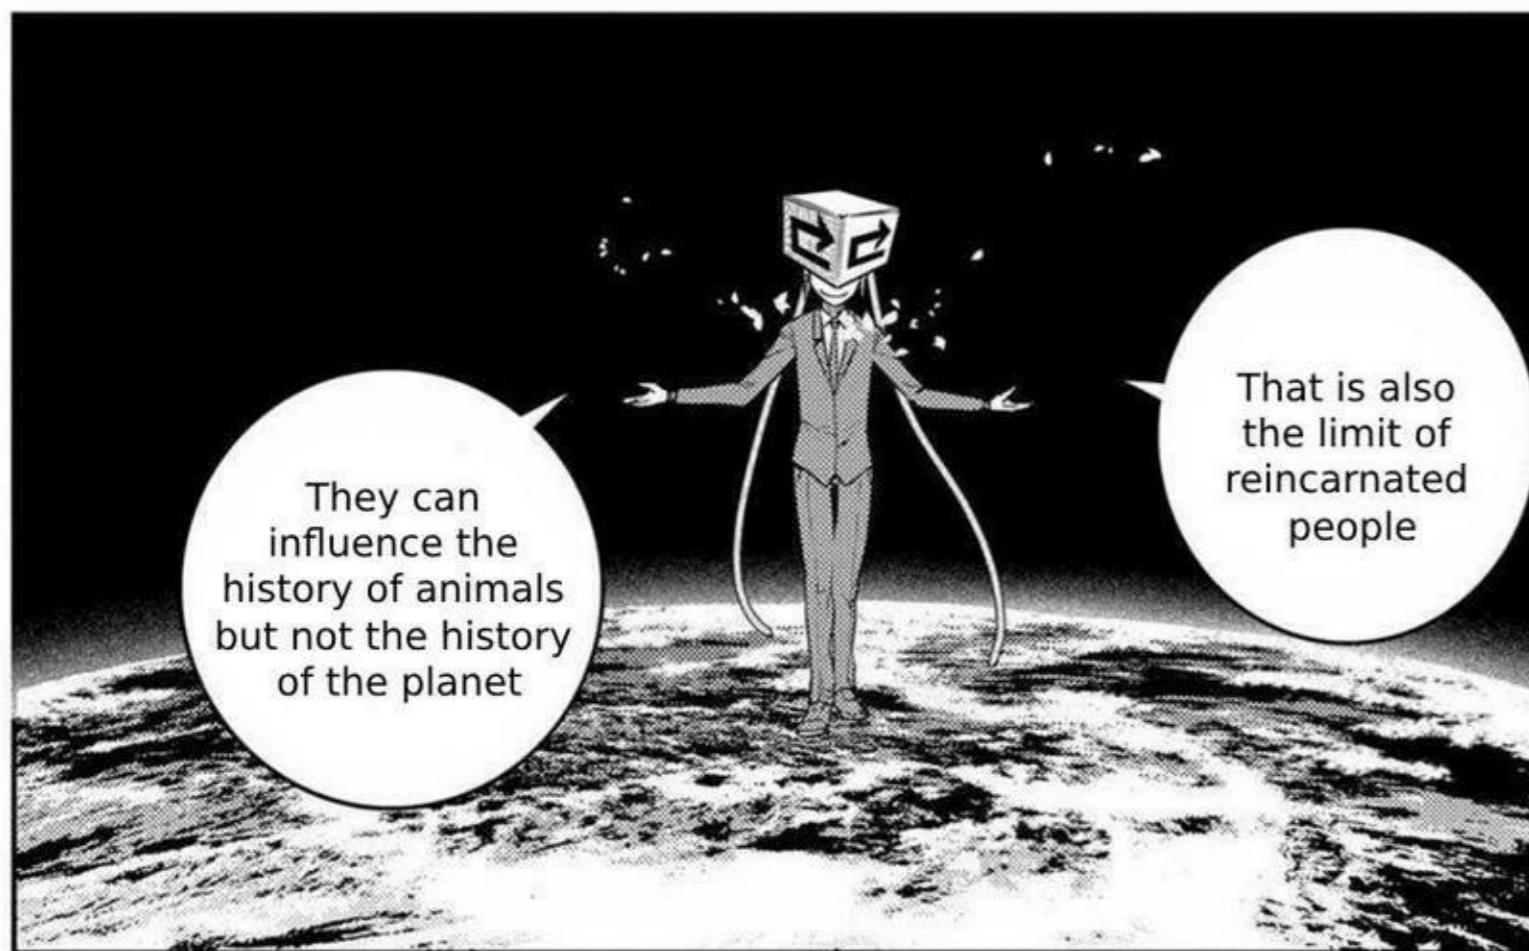

44

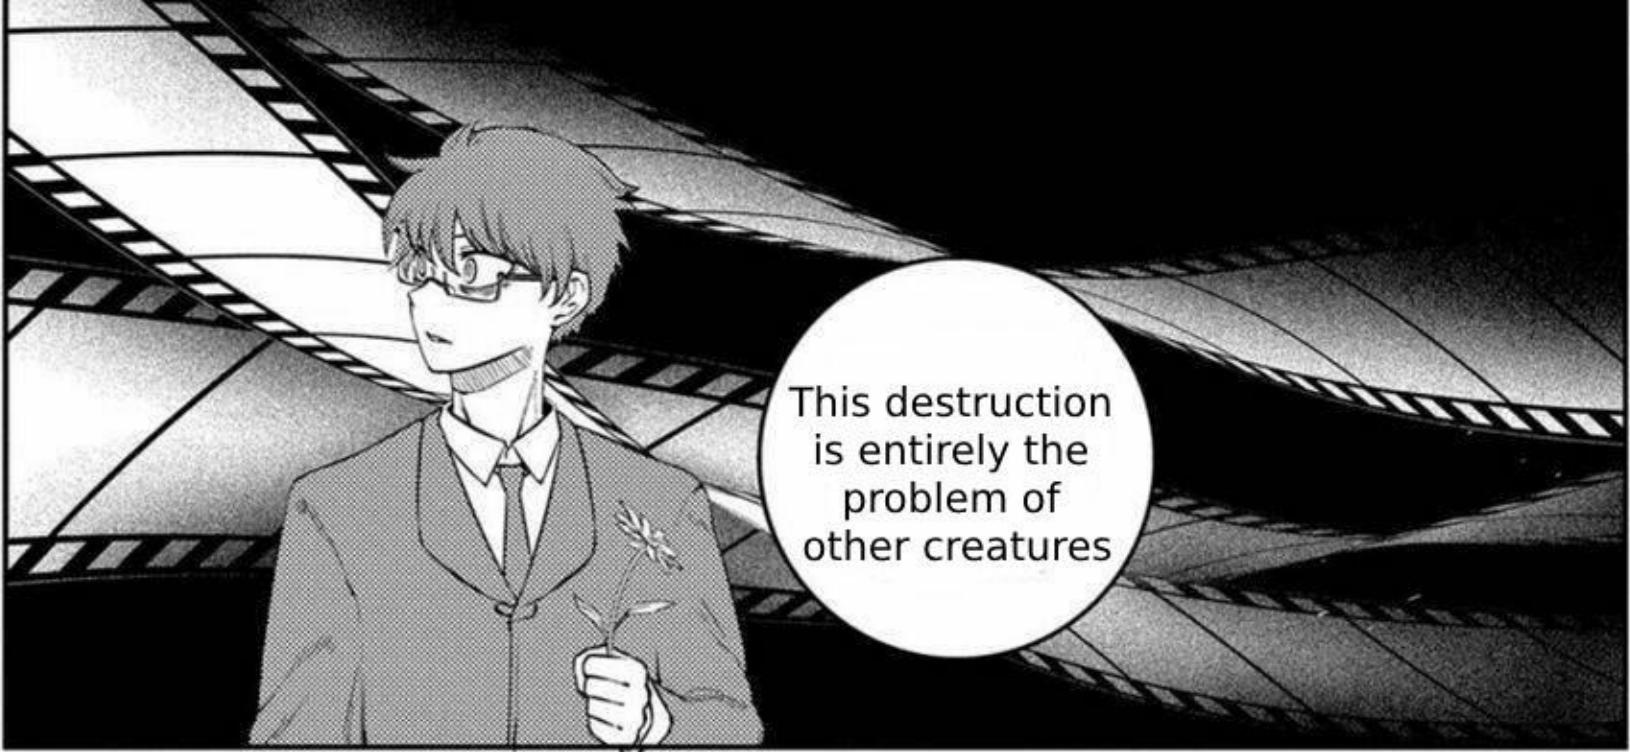

@SURIBAKI

This destruction is entirely the problem of other creatures

I also don't know the details of what happened

WW2
and Cold war

A testament to that fact is when they fight with a fraction of their strength

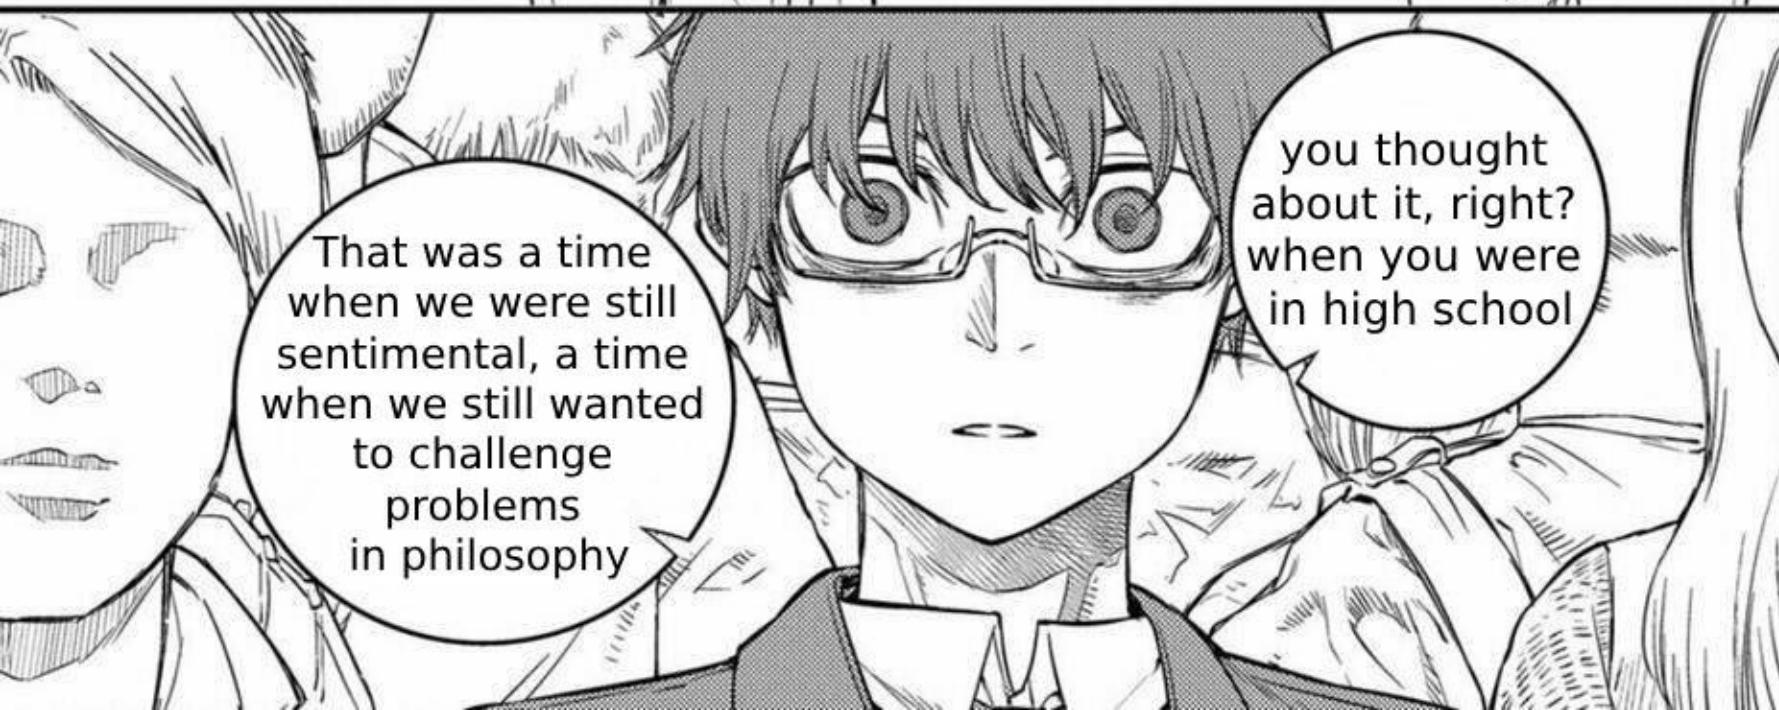

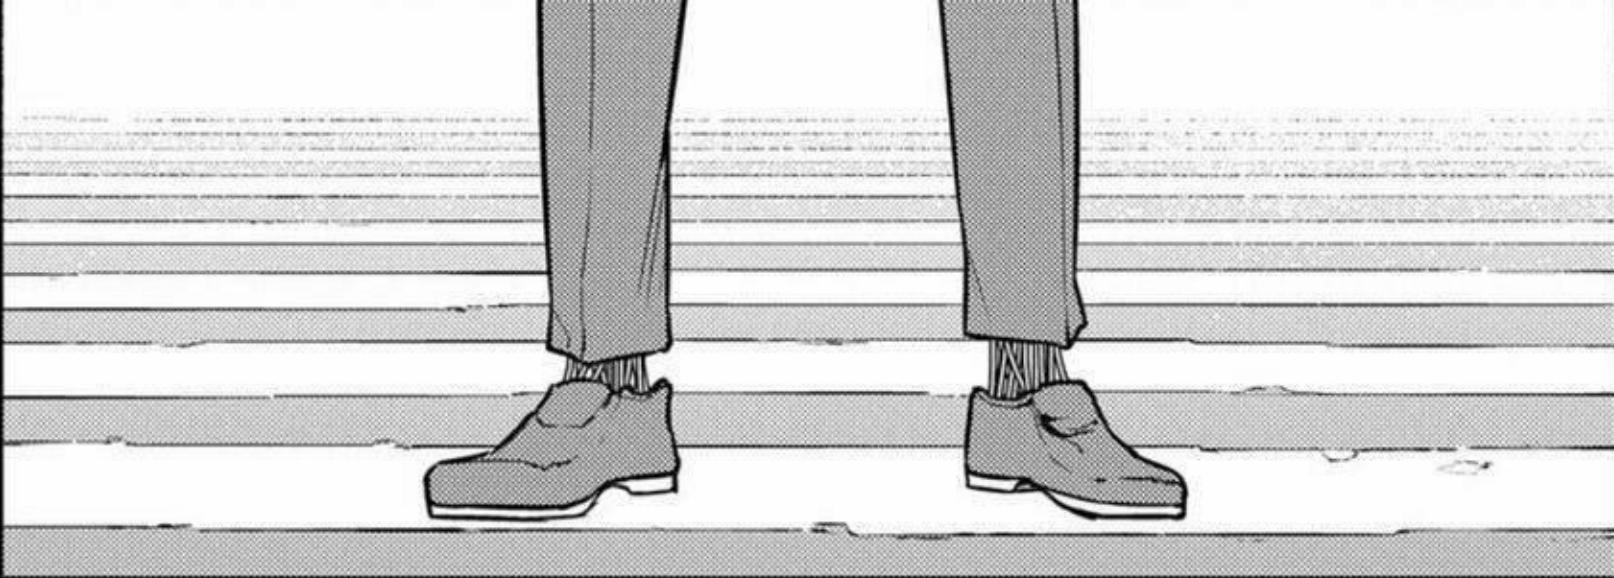

Yet, they feel them directly ...

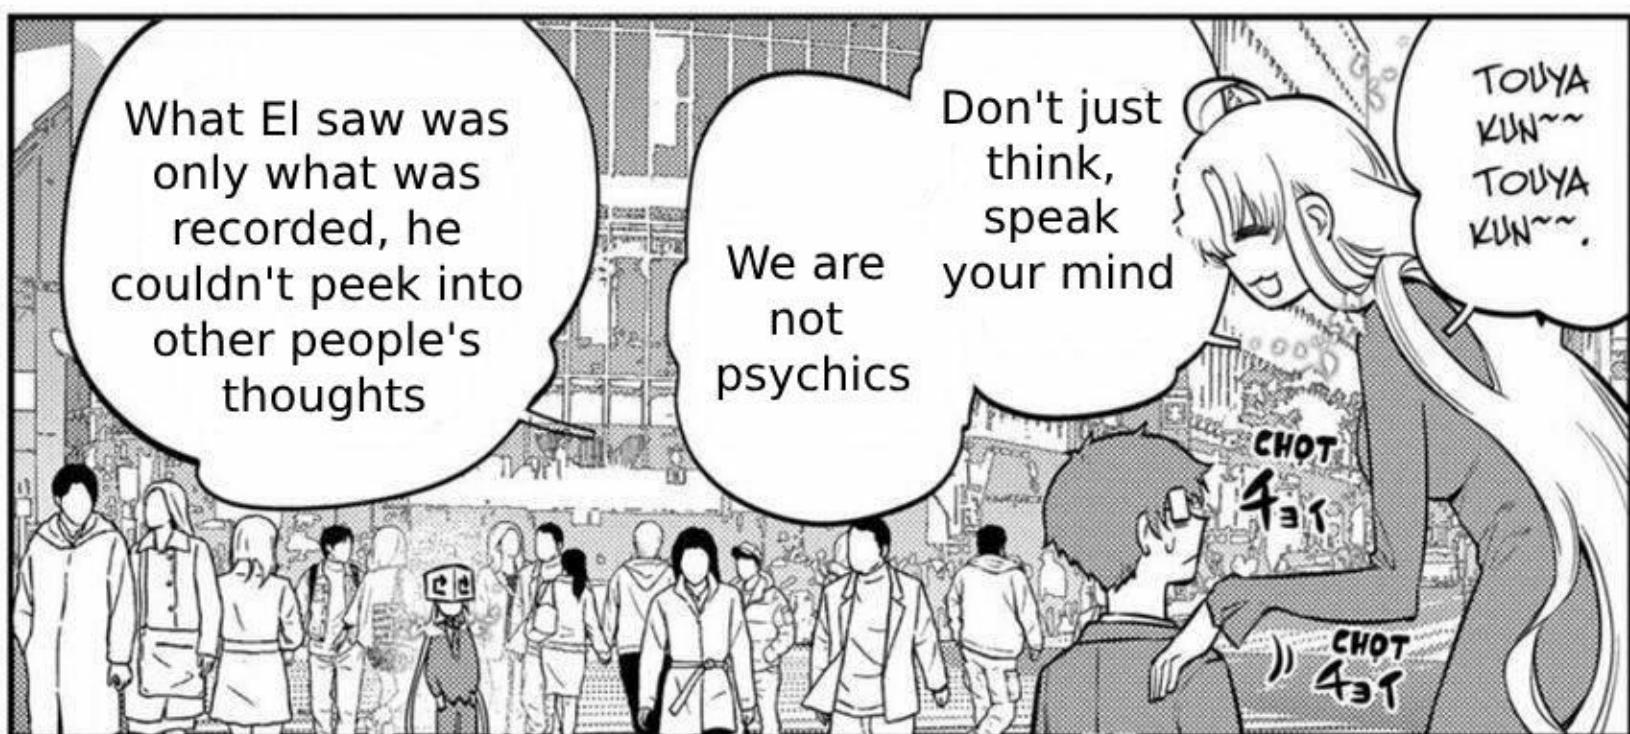

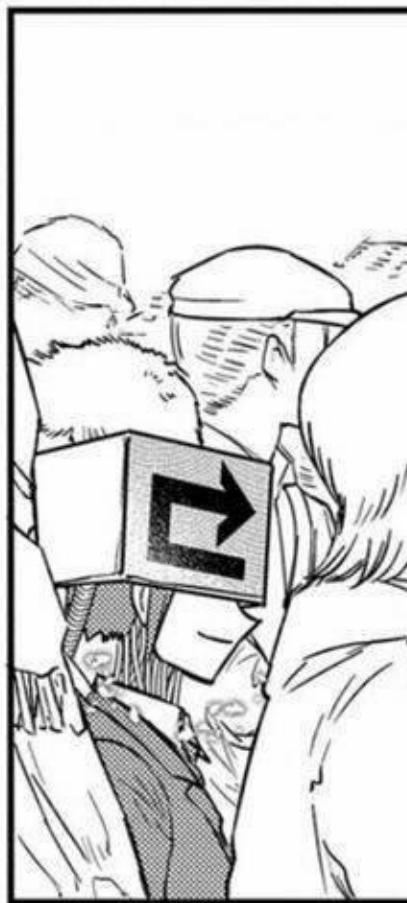

that is not something that human senses can perceive

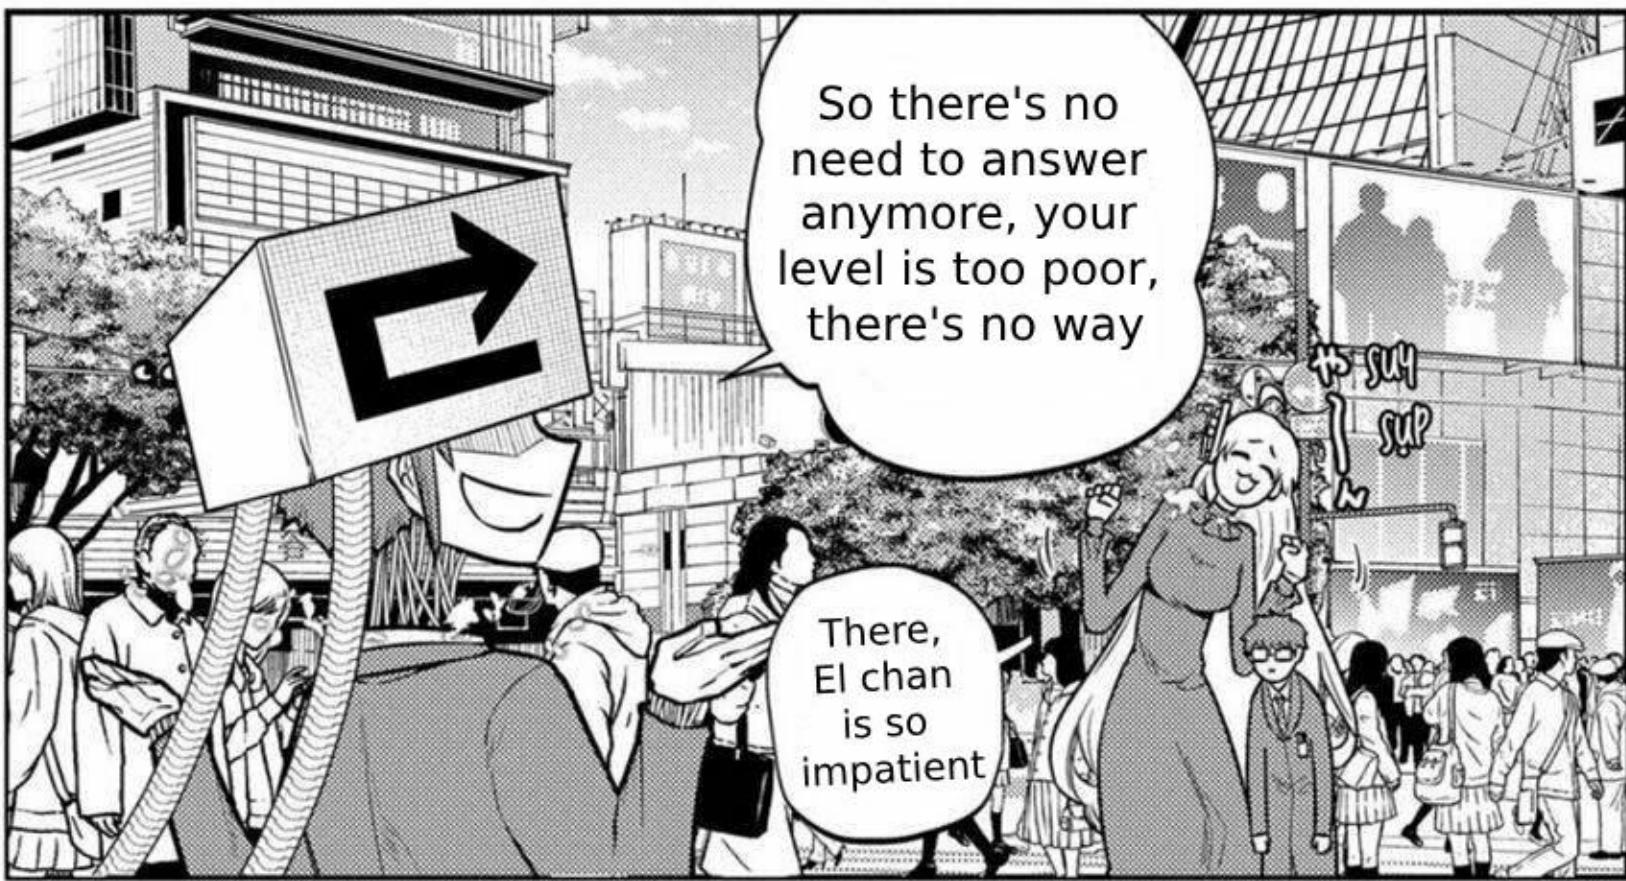

The surrounding light is bent, the surrounding space is bent and stretched

... by the world being destroyed human capacity= improving tools to do things faster, easier, in larger quantities, in better qualities from stone grain crushers to CPU engravers

The more we improve, the more human productivity increases;
The rate of increase is the same as the function $y=a^x$, not the function $y=a*x$

increased productivity -> fewer workers needed to produce 100 products

// but the number of workers remains unchanged

- > a large amount of products are leaked to the market and causes production prices to fall below the profitable level
- > the more you create, the more you lose
- > society becomes disordered

// if we fire fewer workers-> there will be a lot of unemployment
-> society also becomes disordered

Countries must use war to

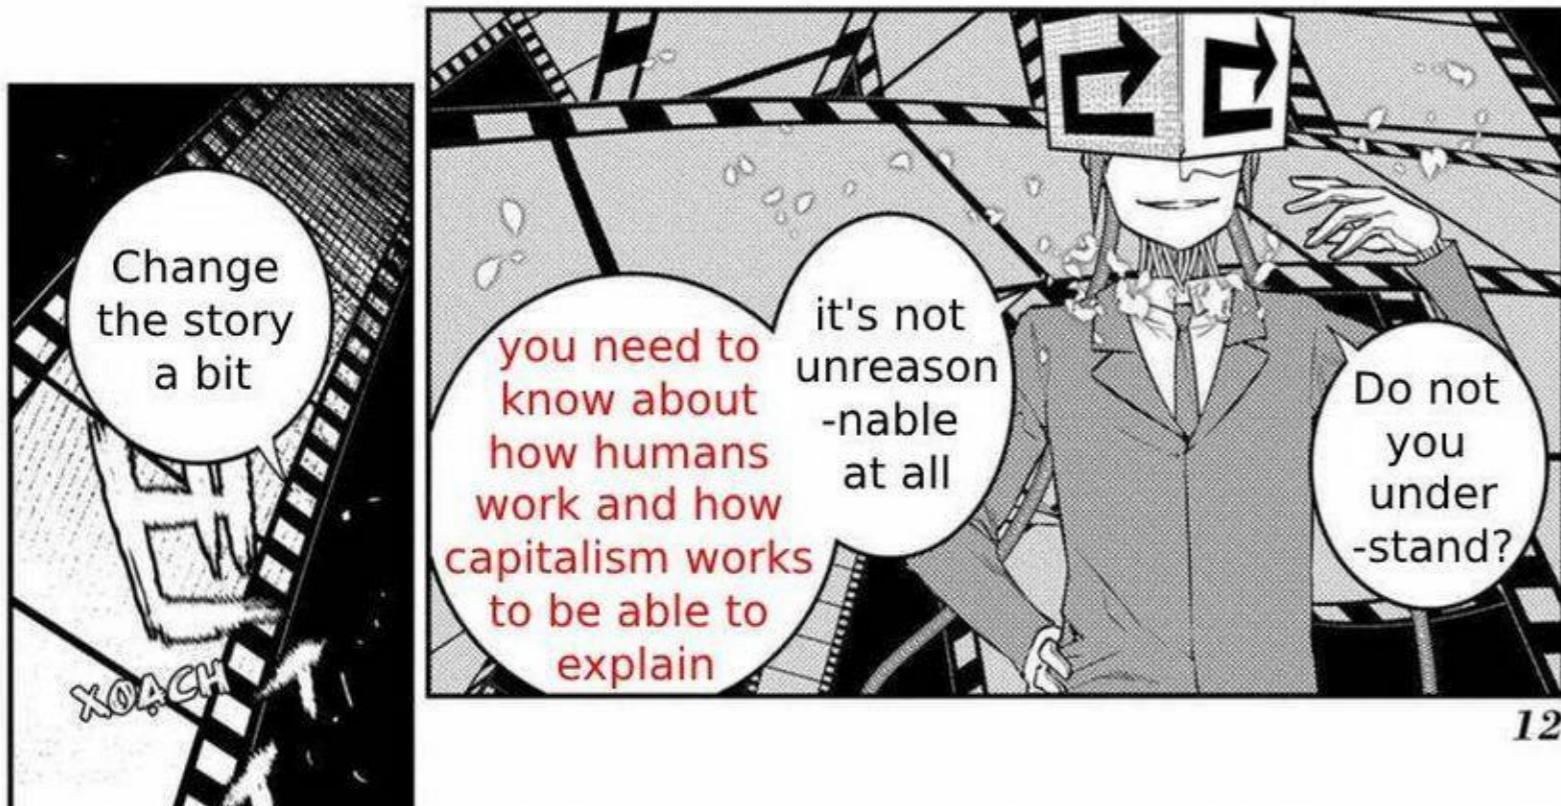

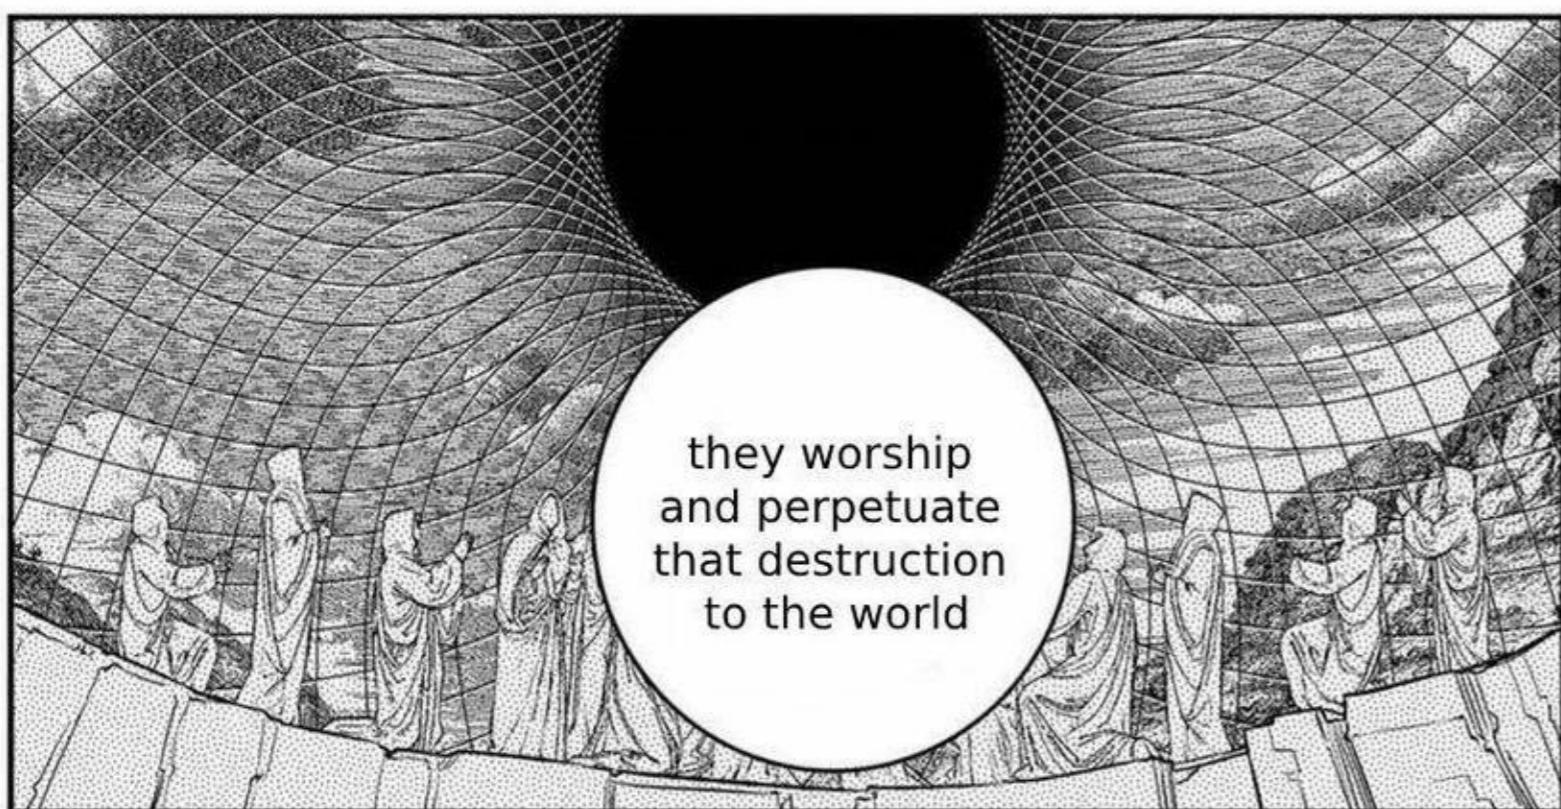

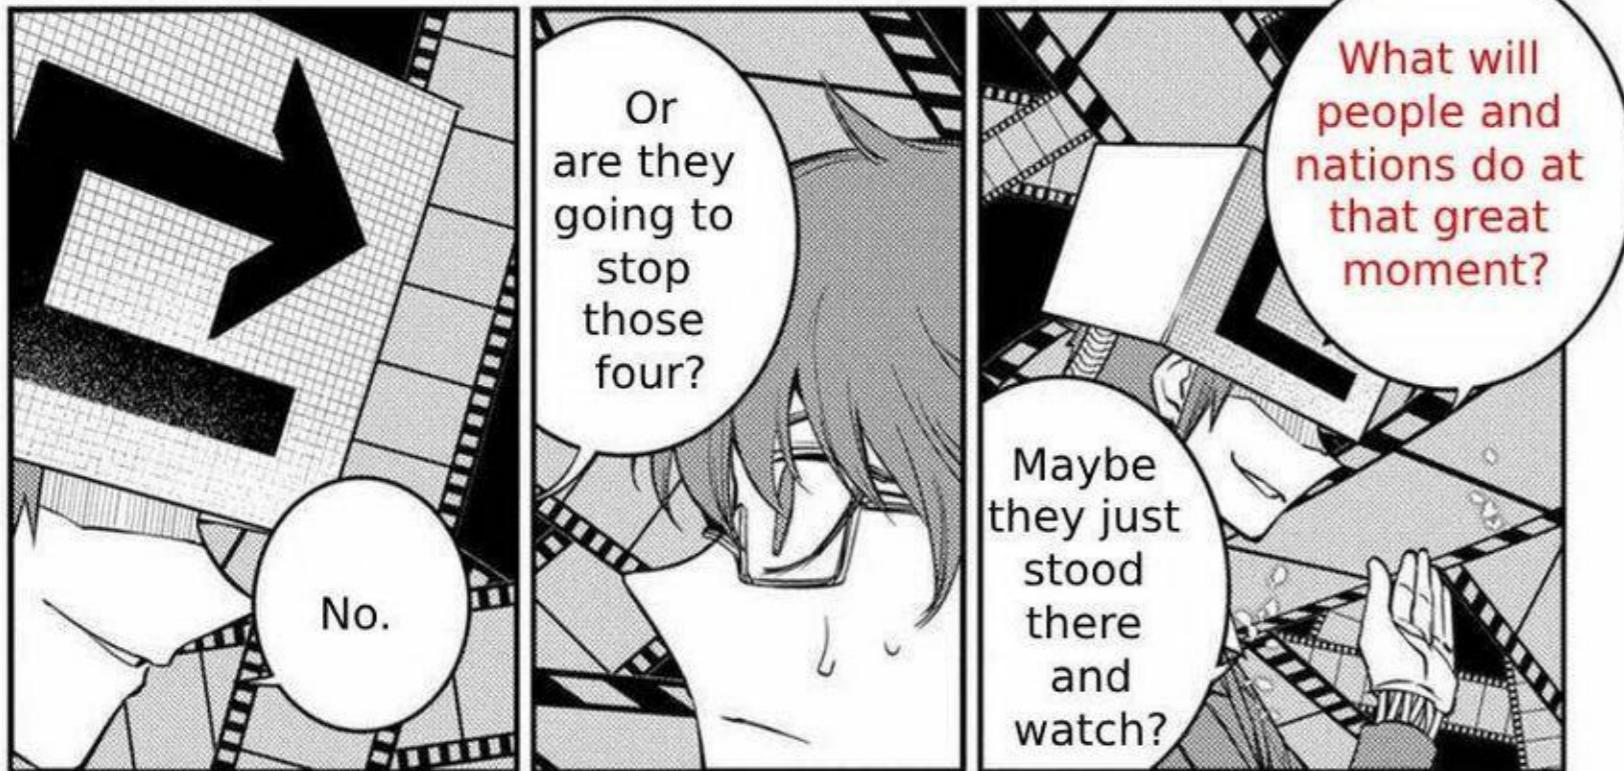

- +) kill excess labor,
- +) push excess labor to become soldiers and produce weapons productivity continuously increases

-> the more productivity increases, the more people have to use war to reduce excess labor -> always war

-> Without increasing productivity, people are just like NPCs, not feeling that their lives are meaningful

-> the power of humanity = continuously increasing productivity = self-destruction

// why do capitalists worship big capitalism causing world war

// world war is

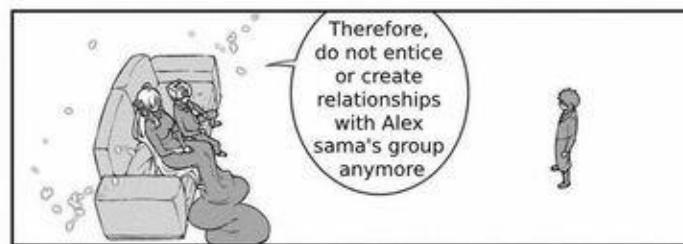

- > to reduce excess labor,
- > mobilize excess labor to participate in weapon production and war

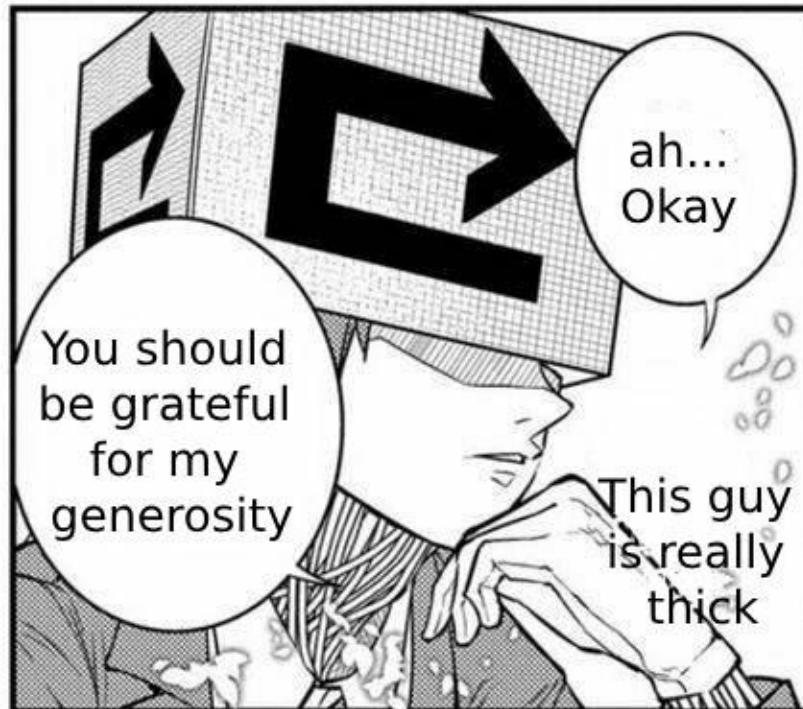

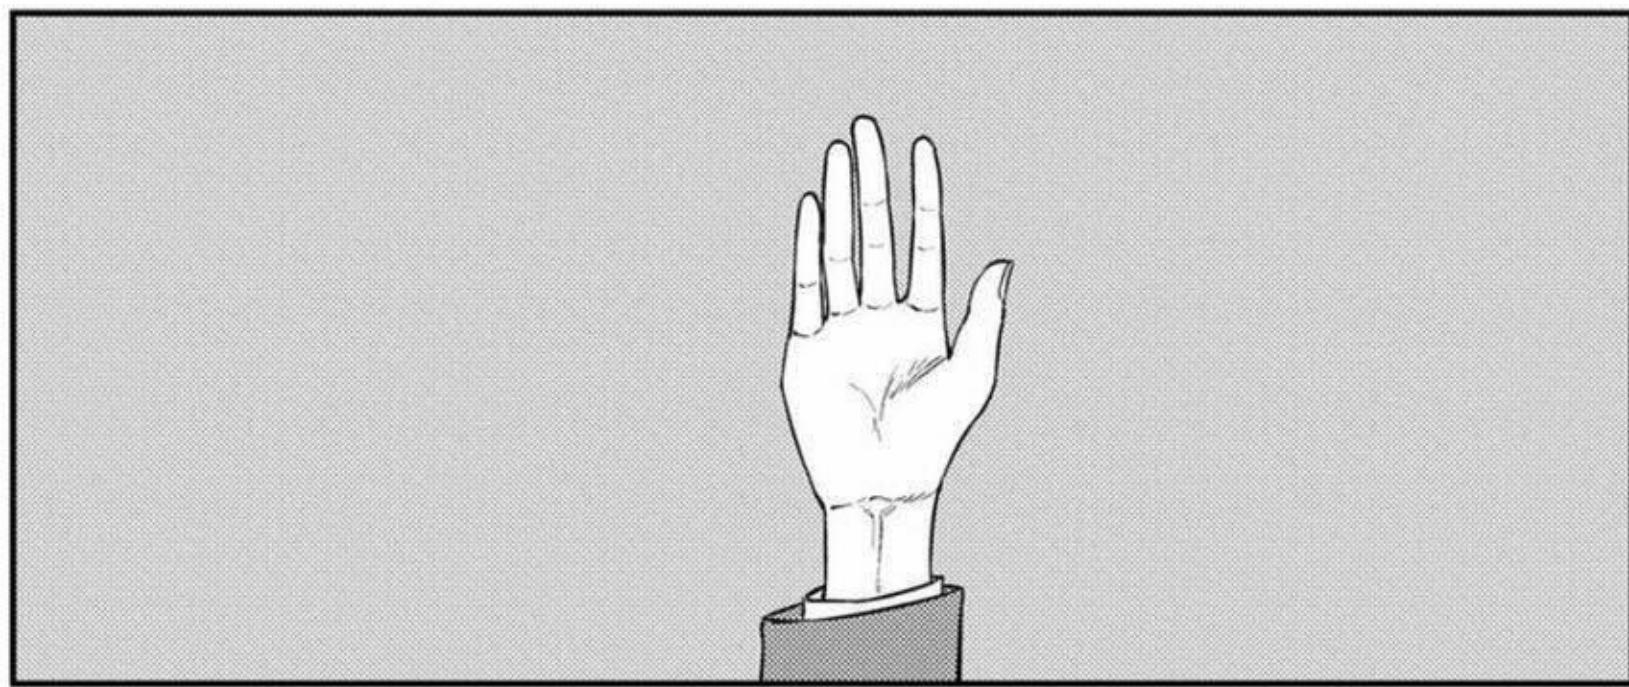

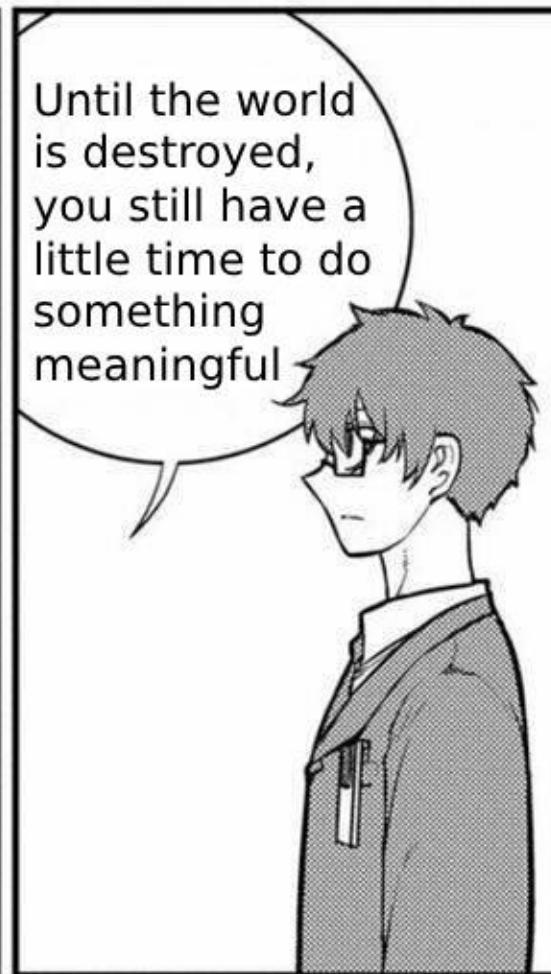

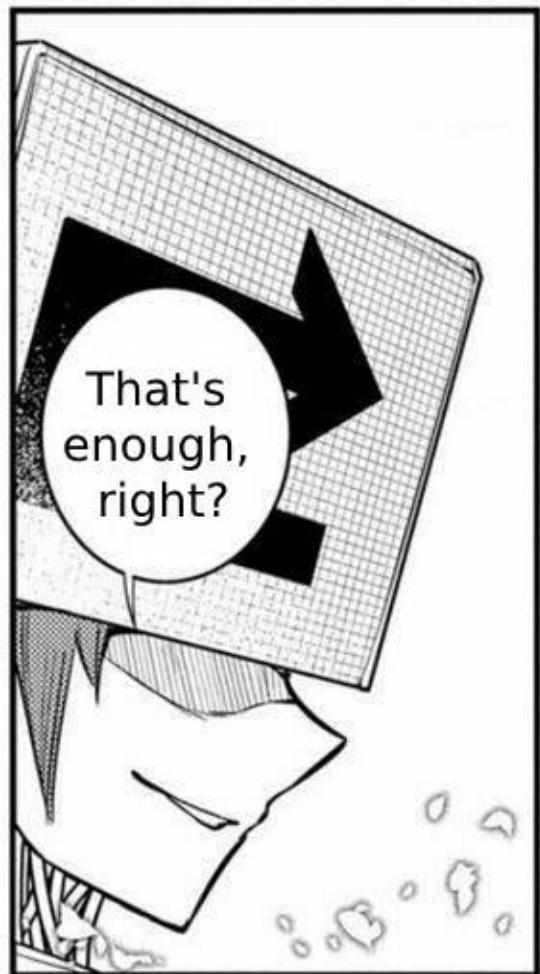

// increase productivity

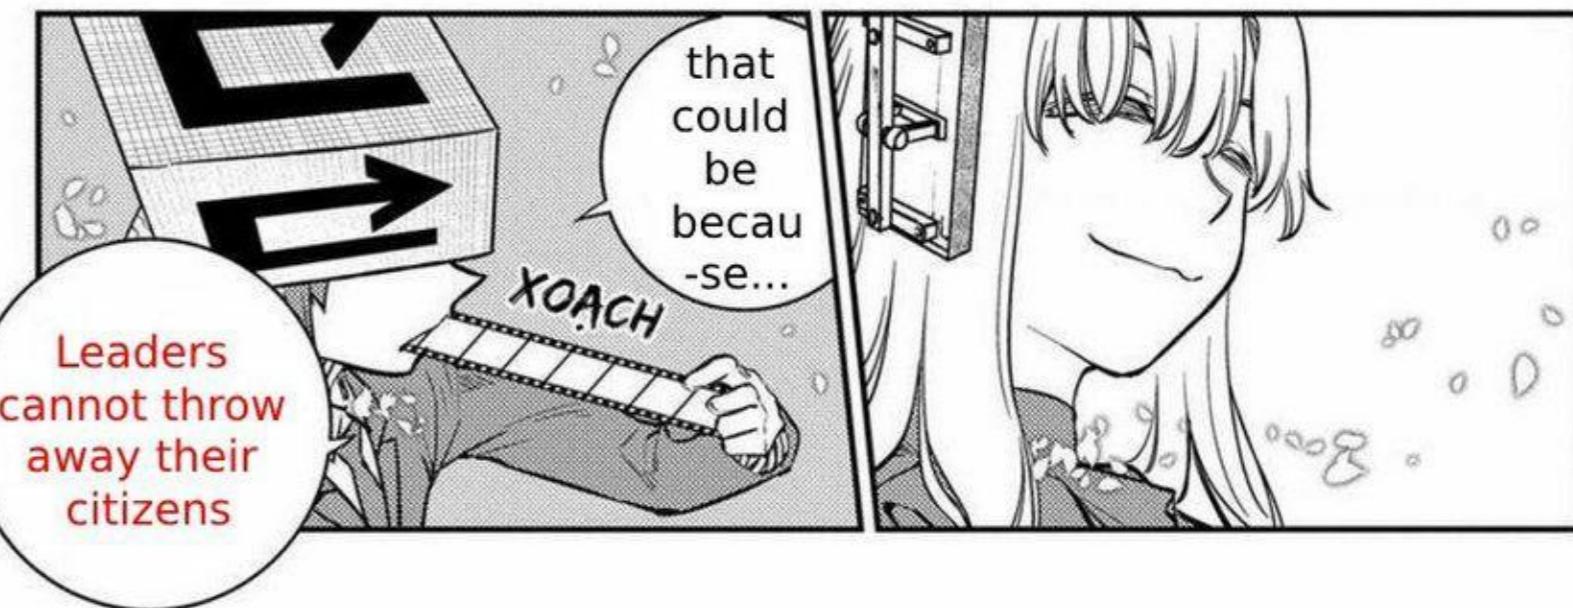

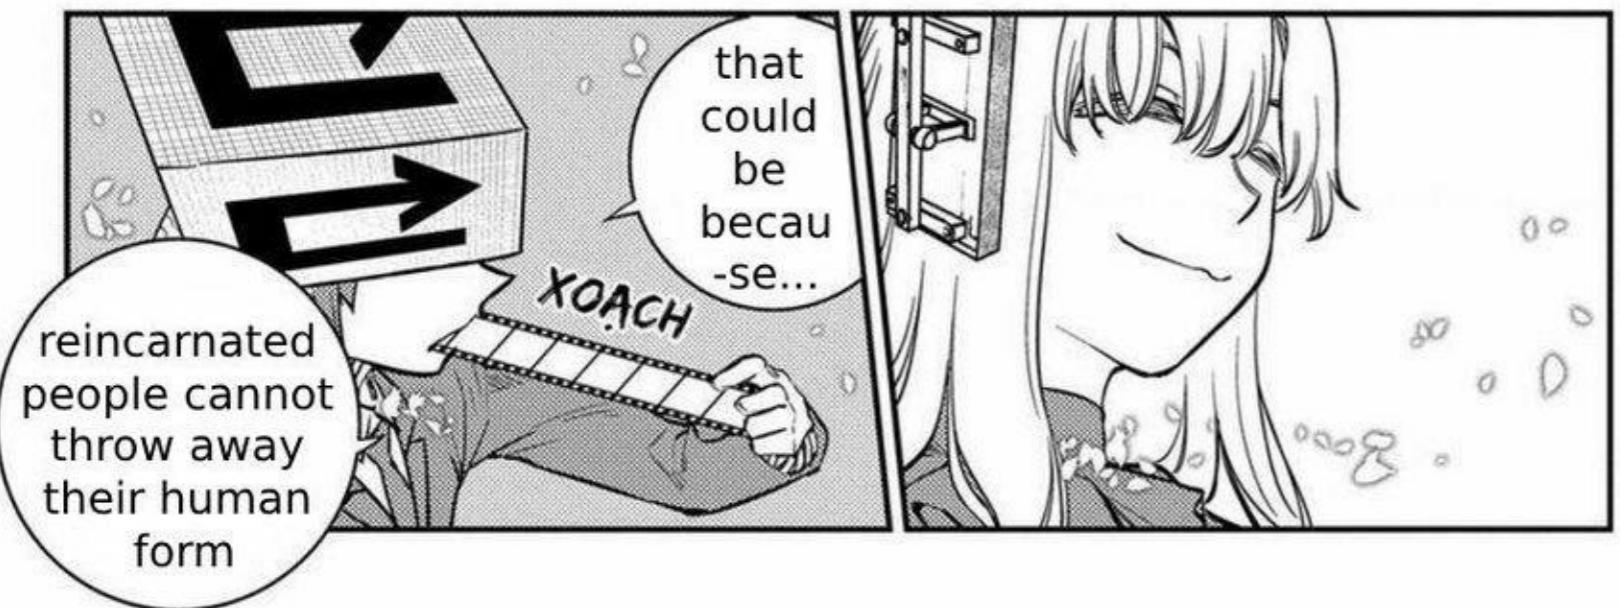

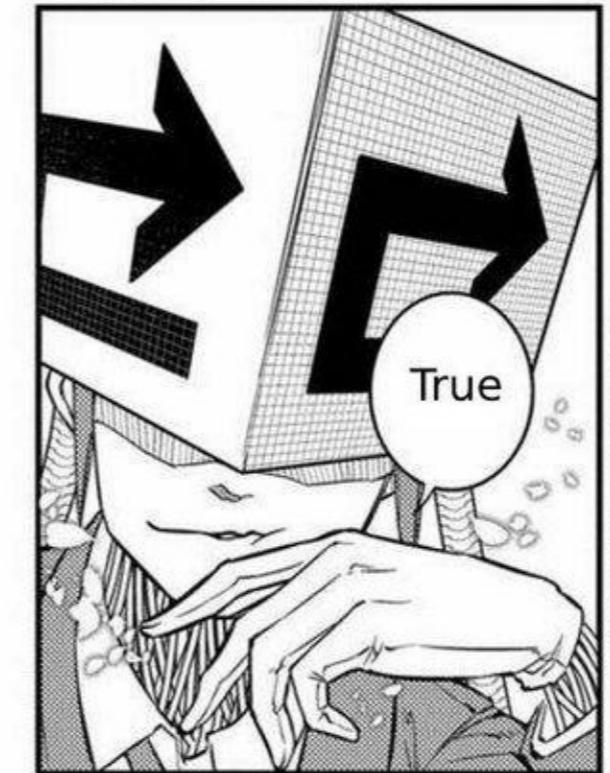

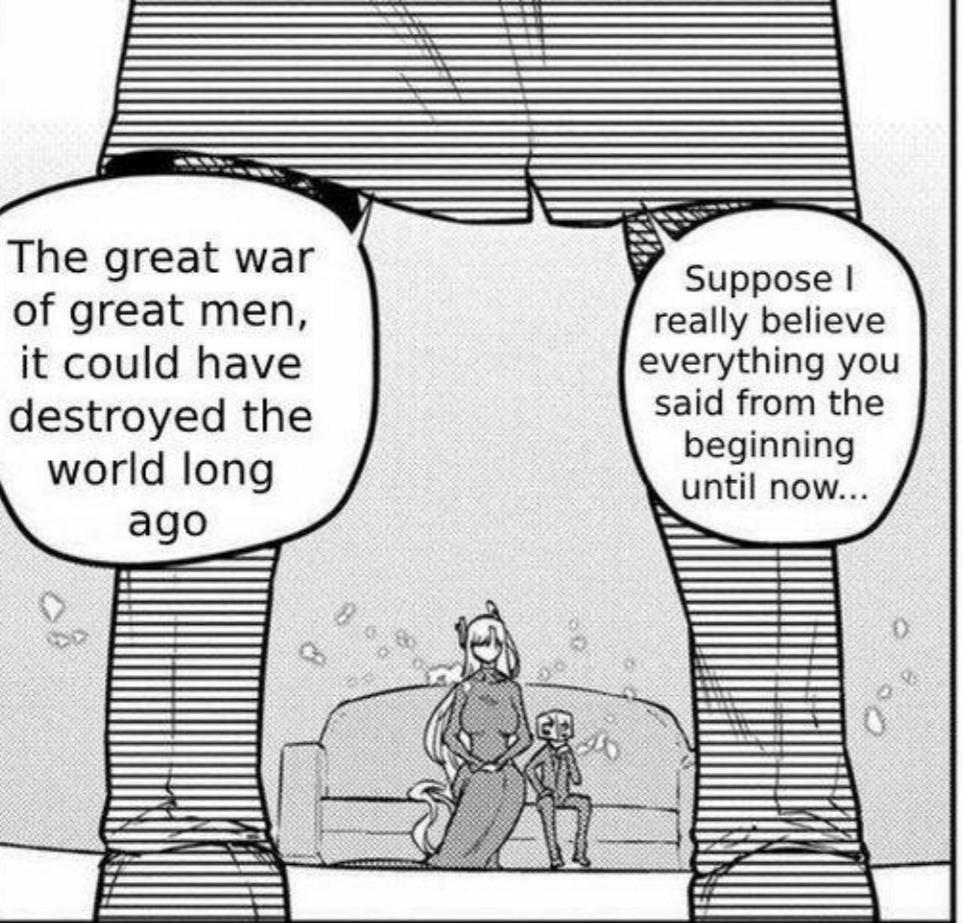

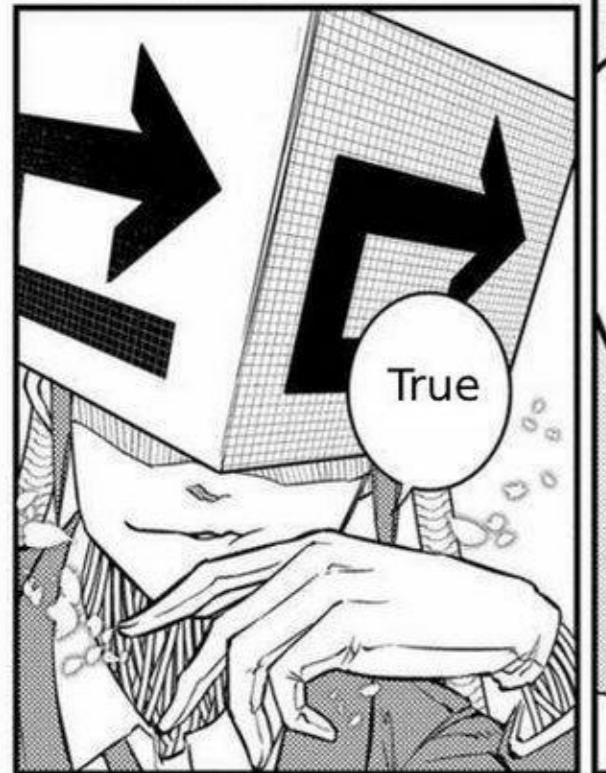

- > excess crisis
- > world war to end the excess crisis
- > restored capitalist society
- > continue to increase productivity
- > ...

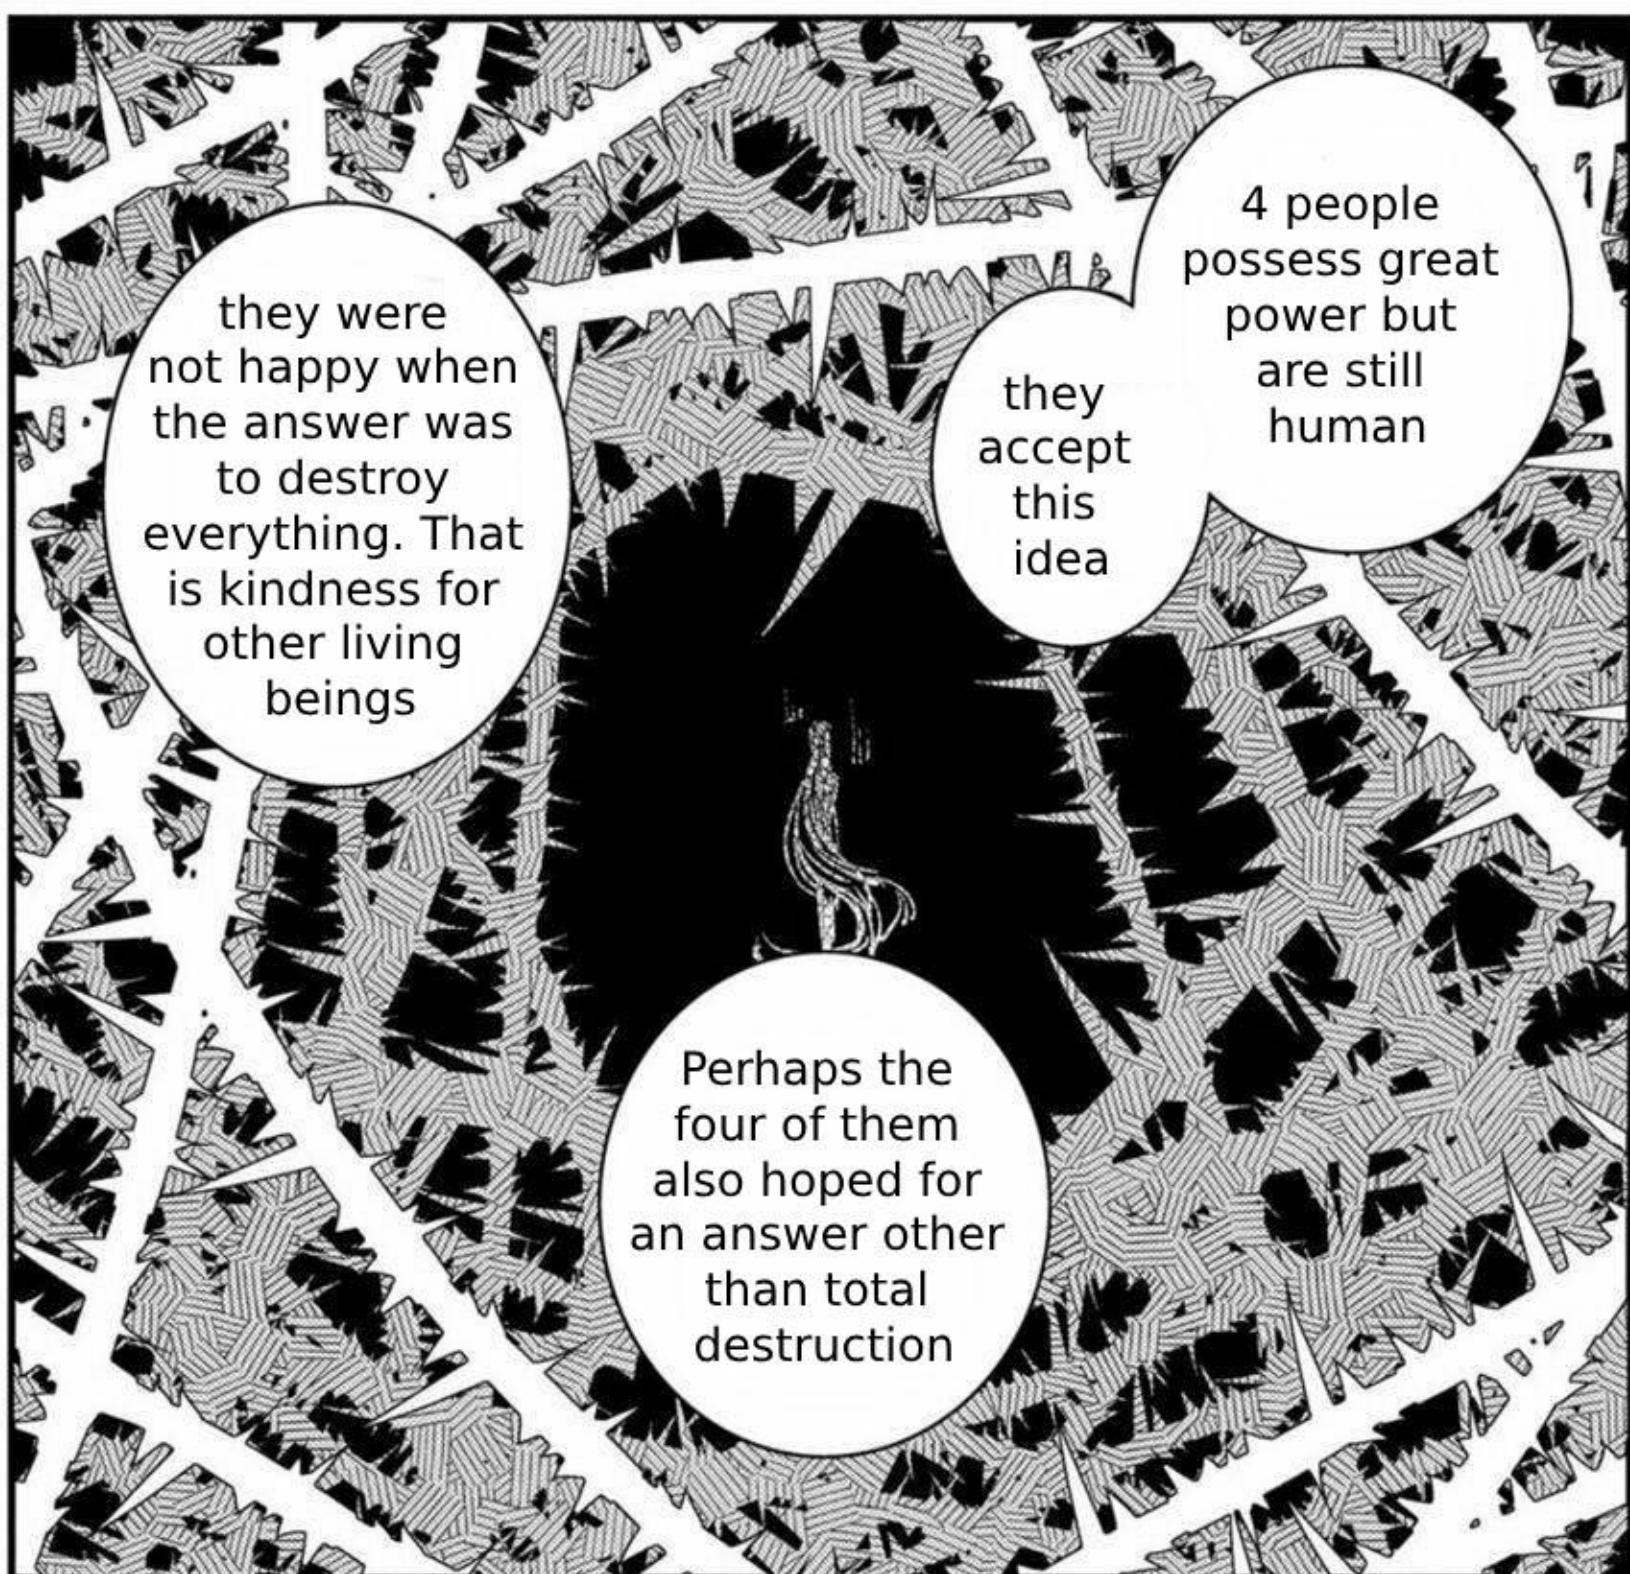

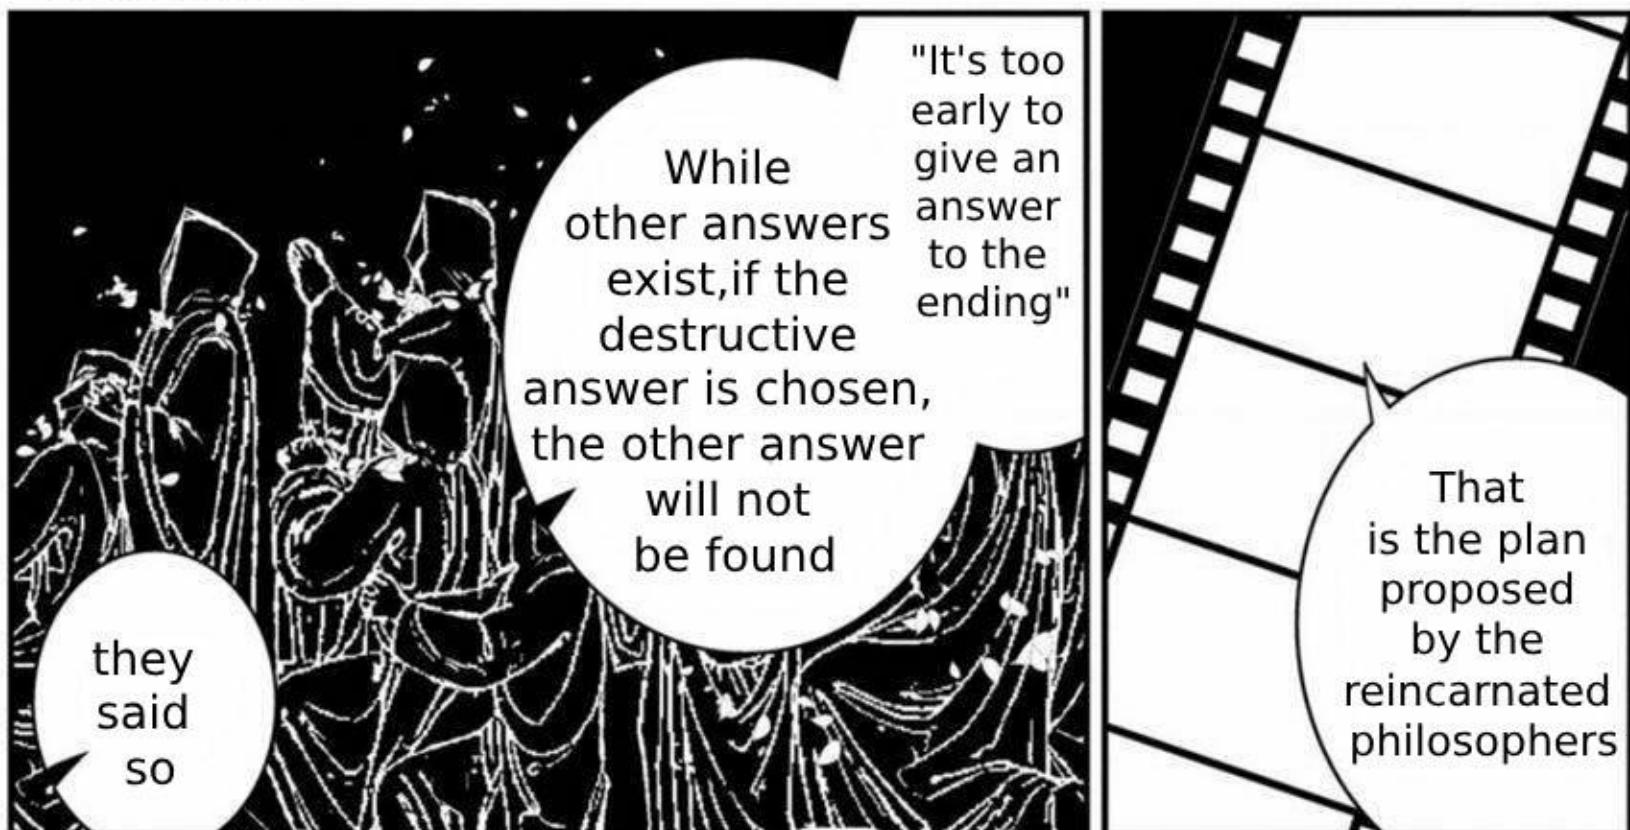

// The rate of human productivity growth is like the function $y = a^x$;

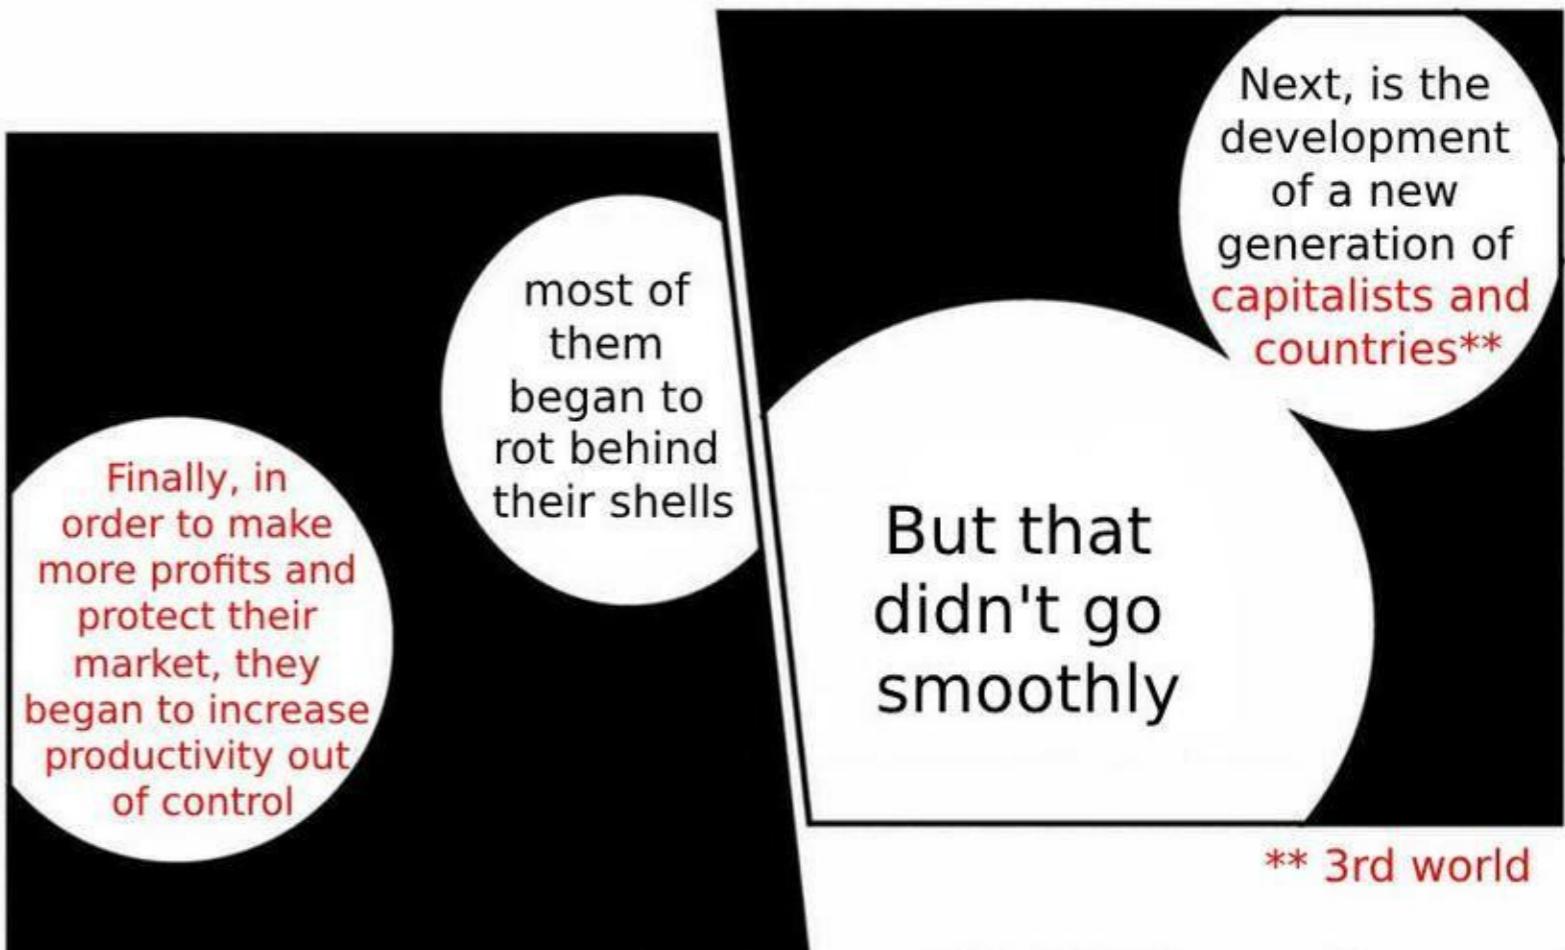

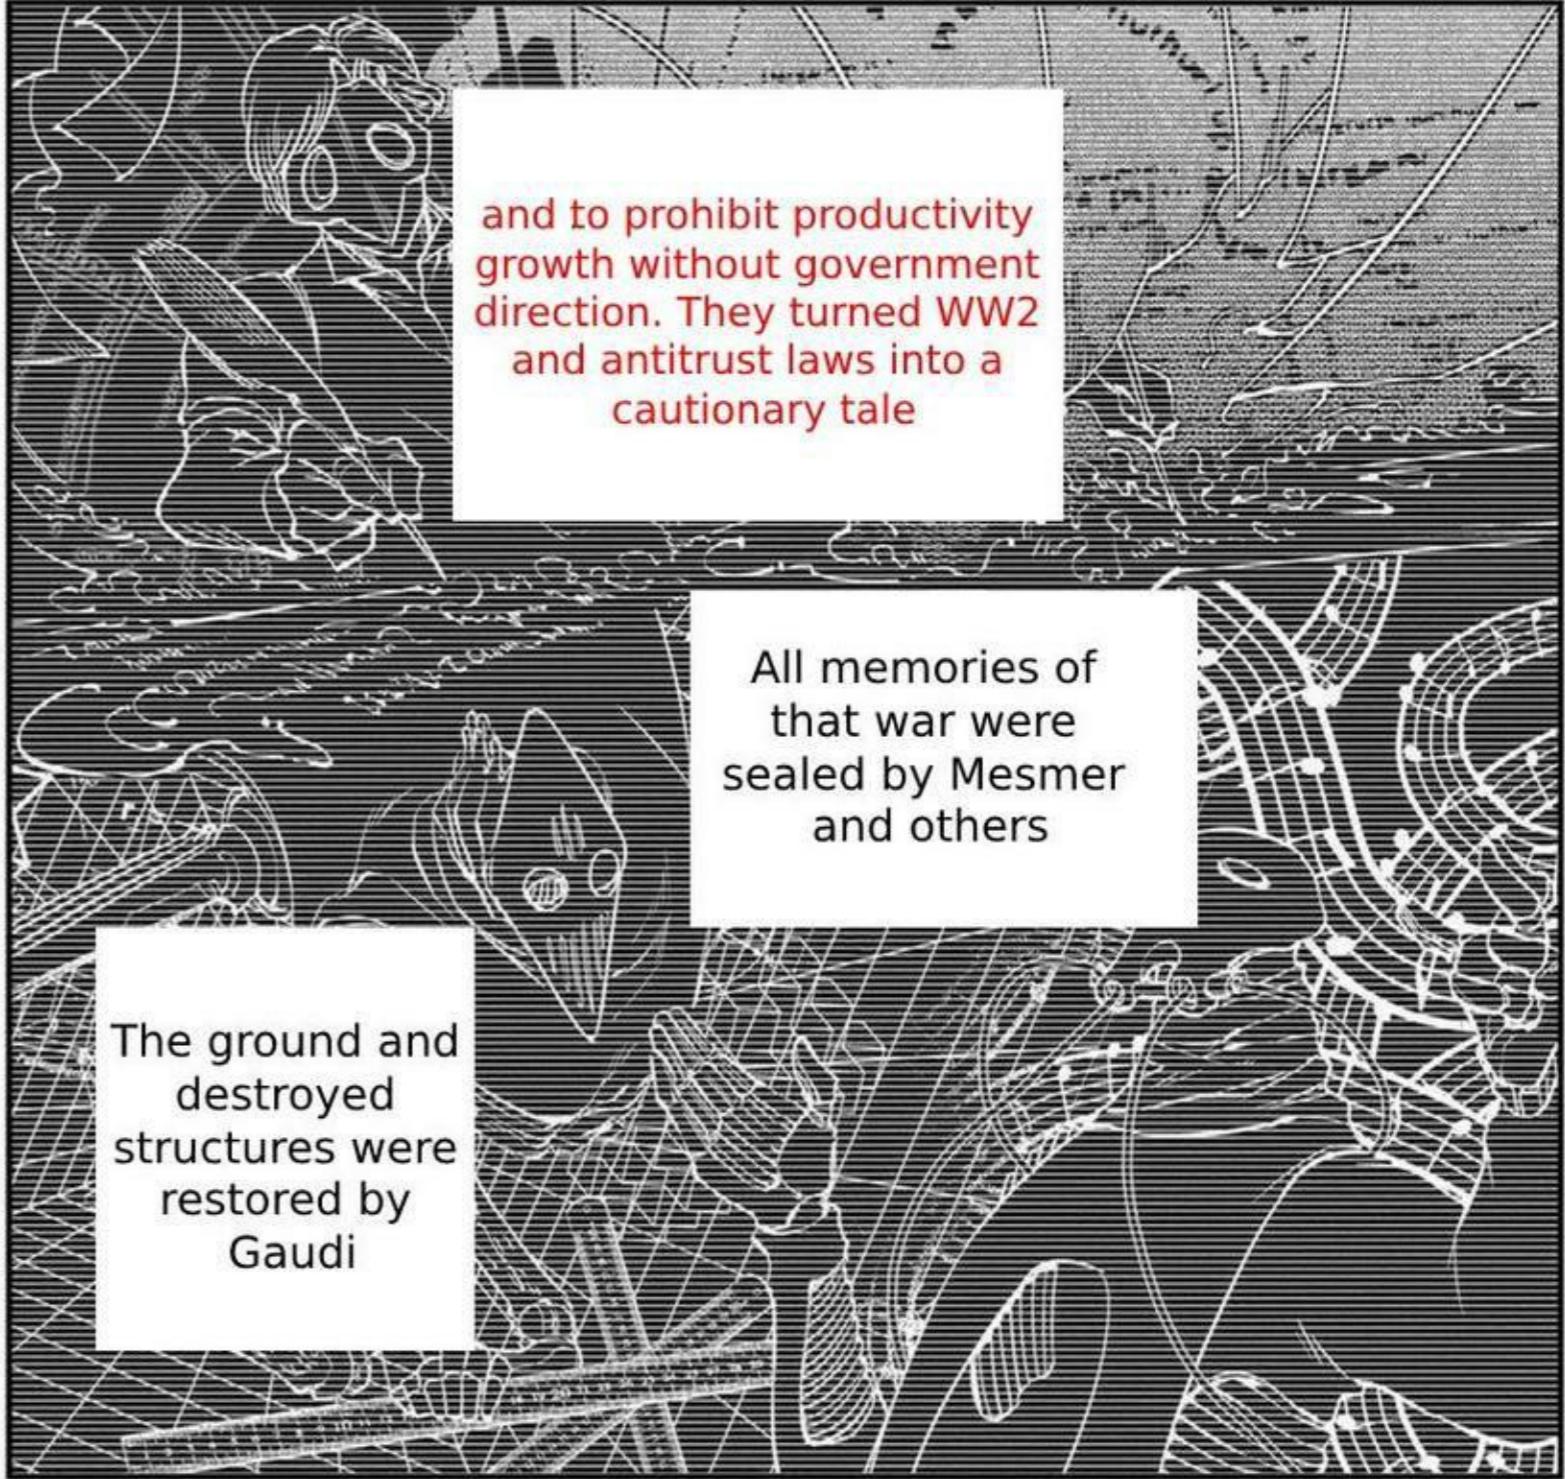

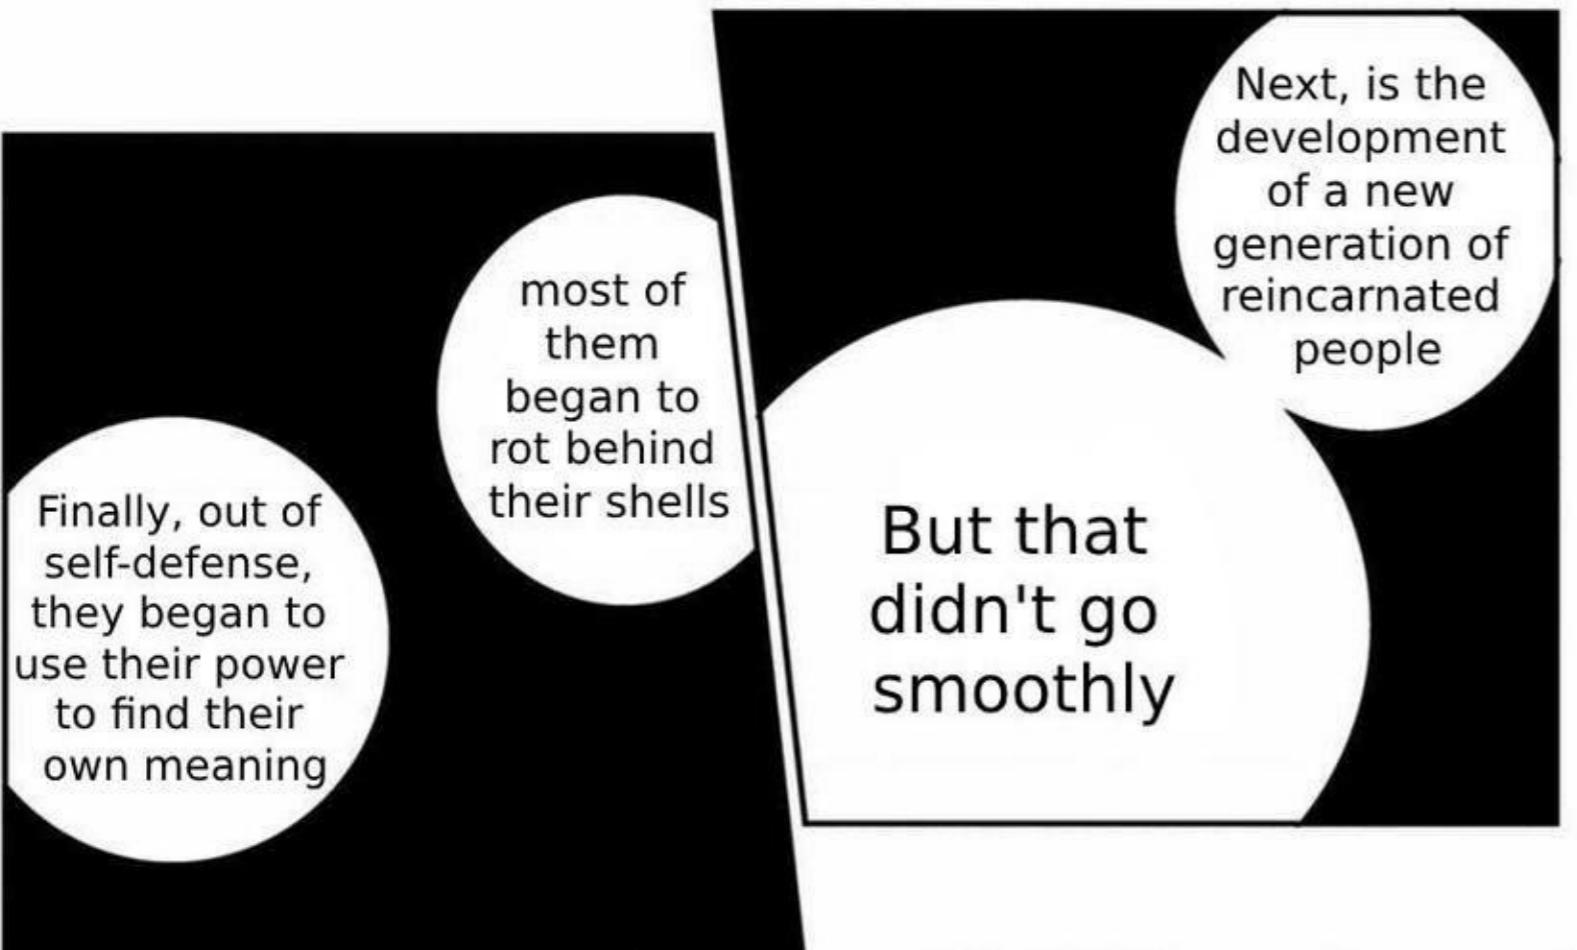

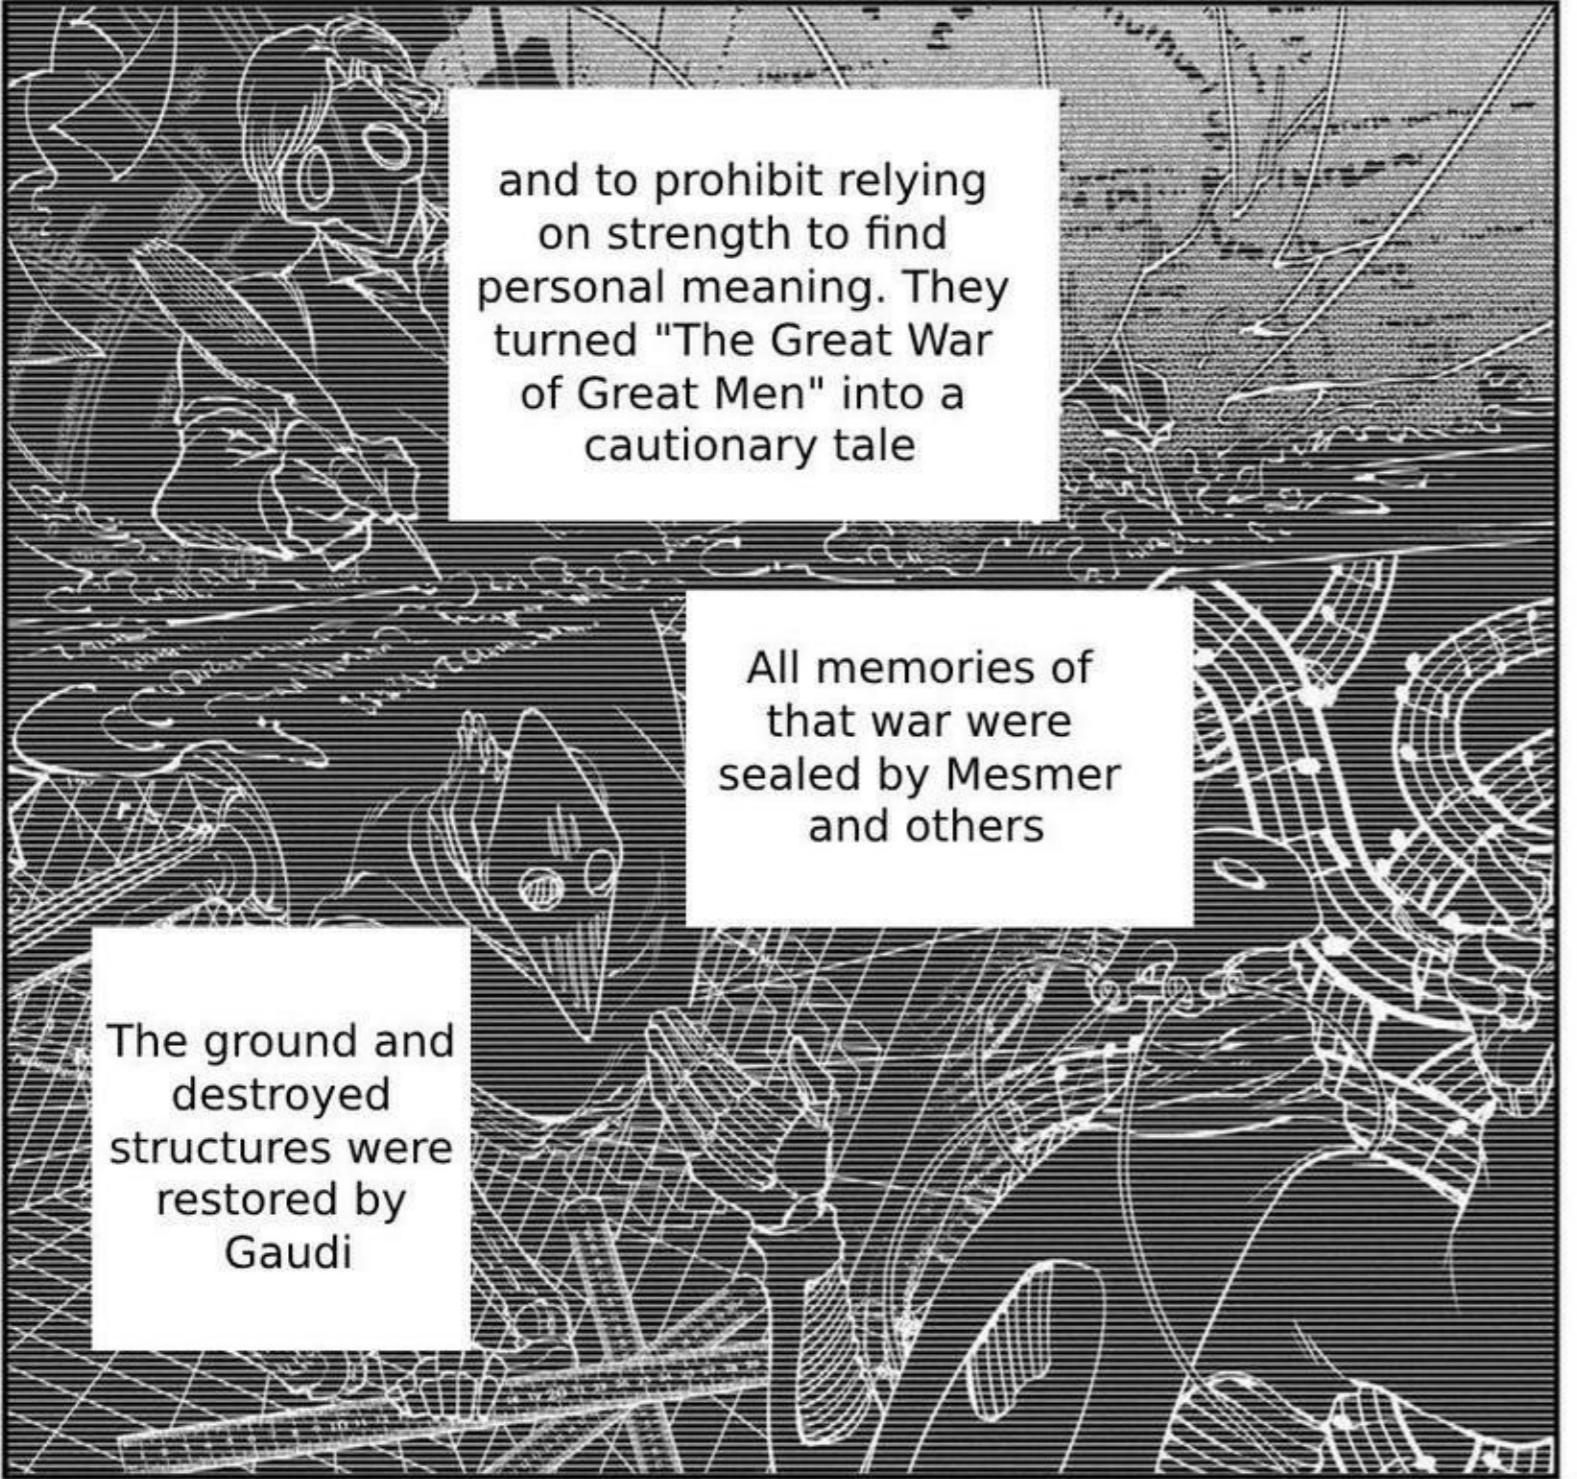

- > war occurs with increasing frequency
- > until society only has geniuses left
- > peaceful period -> give birth less (more births will destroy each other)

What do you think,
Senji Touya?

If you continue to hesitate,
